Work Term Report Topic

Think about what would be of use to your employer in your work place. Does your employer have any events, projects, reports, surveys, handbooks, manuals, etc. they may find useful to have completed that were not part of the original/assigned work for the term? Think in terms of what type of event, project, or report would be of value to your employer. Then, approach your employer and have a conversation about what would be most helpful to their organization. Come to a tentative agreement. The process should be started in the first month of the work term, after you have settled into your new work environment. Please note that confidential reports are not permitted.

Contact your Co-op Faculty Advisor. Once you have a topic in mind, contact your Co-op Faculty Advisor. In your email, please indicate your Co-op work term employer, your position and your primary responsibilities. Describe your ideas for your work report. The Co-op Faculty Advisor will contact you with specific suggestions or refinements to your topic.

Format of the Work Term Report

- Cover page. Include your name, student ID number, your employer, the title of your report, and the term during which you worked for your employer.
- Introductory letter. Your letter should be addressed to your Co-op Faculty Advisor. Include in your letter: information regarding where you worked, your position title, your main responsibilities and projects, the topic of your report, and finally, acknowledge the employer for his/her assistance during your work term.
- Executive Summary. This should always be written after the report has been completed, and be a maximum of one (1) page., Report the background or context of the report, the underlying issue(s) tackled, the objective(s) of the project or tasks performed and the outcomes of your work. Depending on the objective, you may, for example, present results of a specific analysis or make recommendations. The Executive Summary should briefly, but completely, overview the contents of the report (i.e., by only reading the Executive Summary, the reader should know all the main details of the report).

- Reflective Piece Half-page document outlining which courses you have taken so far as well as the particular learning experiences, knowledge, and skills you have taken from them that were most helpful in completing this project.
- The Report. The structure of the report should be appropriate for the report objectives. This section will be approximately 10 pages, double spaced, without appendices. Concise reports that present only what is necessary for the given objective(s) are very much preferred.
- References. References should be completed using APA formatting. Online reference should provide the URL and date of last access.

Academic Misconduct & Turnitin.com

Academic Misconduct The University of Guelph is committed to upholding the highest standards of academic integrity and it is the responsibility of all members of the University community, faculty, staff, and students to be aware of what constitutes academic misconduct and to do as much as possible to prevent academic offences from occurring. University of Guelph students have the responsibility of abiding by the University's policy on academic misconduct regardless of their location of study; faculty, staff and students have the responsibility of supporting an environment that discourages misconduct. Students need to remain aware that instructors have access to and the right to use electronic and other means of detection. Please note: Whether or not a student intended to commit academic misconduct is not relevant for a finding of guilt. Hurried or careless submission of assignments does not excuse students from responsibility for verifying the academic integrity of their work before submitting it. Students who are in any doubt as to whether an action on their part could be construed as an academic offence should consult with a faculty member or faculty advisor.

The Academic Misconduct Policy is detailed in the Undergraduate Calendar:

Course instructors are allowed to use software to help in detecting plagiarism or unauthorized copying of student assignments. Plagiarism is one of the most common types of academic misconduct on our campus. Plagiarism involves students using the work, ideas and/or the exact wording of other people or sources without giving proper credit to others for the work, ideas and/or words in their papers. Students can unintentionally commit misconduct because they do not know how to reference outside sources properly or because they don't check their work carefully enough before handing it in.

In regards to your work term report, the Faculty Advisor will be using Turnitin.com to detect possible plagiarism, unauthorized collaboration or copying as part of the ongoing efforts to prevent plagiarism in the Lang School of Business & Economics.

A major benefit of using Turnitin is that students will be able to educate and empower themselves in preventing misconduct. In this course, you may screen your own assignments through Turnitin as many times as you wish before the due date. You will be able to see and print reports that show you exactly where you have properly and improperly referenced the outside sources and materials in your assignment.
